

Contract Routing Review & Approval

Contracts involving the College must be approved and executed pursuant to delegated authority¹ and those that create financial obligations for the College must also be consistent with established budgets and comply with applicable College purchasing policies. To ensure that all College contracts receive the appropriate review, approval and signatures, this Contract Routing Review & Approval form and process must be used for all College contracts. This form should be completed in the order set forth below. The Department Head should insert the payment amounts and Chart of Accounts (“COA”) confirming that the financial obligations are within budget and cognizant Vice President signatures have been obtained, contracts must be forwarded to the Supporting Department (i.e., IT, Facilities, etc.), if applicable; then to the Executive Director of Procurement, who will determine if additional review by the Risk Manager, Office of the General Counsel (“OGC”) and/or the Office of the Treasurer (“OT”) is required. A contract in a form of contract that has been previously drafted or reviewed and approved by the OGC (“OGC Approved Form”) that varies from the OGC Approved Form not in its terms and conditions, but only in such transaction specific data as the price, dates for performance and vendor name and address, does not require the review and approval of the OGC. Such contracts in the OGC Approved Form that require no payments from the College likewise do not require the review and approval of the OT (unless delegated authority would otherwise so require), but a copy of the executed contract and completed Contract Routing Review & Approval must still be sent to the Executive Director of Procurement for archival and auditing purposes.

With their signatures below, authorized individuals indicate their review and approval of the attached contract.

² In limited circumstances, the signature of a duly authorized designee who directly reports to the Vice President (e.g., a dean reporting to the Provost) may substitute for the Vice President’s signature if that Vice President has expressly delegated signature authority to that designee for that type and dollar amount of contract.
